STANDARD CONDITIONS OF SUPERVISION

As part of your supervised release, you must comply with the following standard conditions of supervision. These conditions are imposed because they establish the basic expectations for your behavior while on supervision and identify the minimum tools needed by probation officers to keep informed, report to the court about, and bring about improvements in your conduct and condition.

1. You must report to the probation office in the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside within 72 hours of your release from imprisonment, unless the probation officer instructs you to report to a different probation office or within a different time frame.
2. After initially reporting to the probation office, you will receive instructions from the court or the probation officer about how and when you must report to the probation officer, and you must report to the probation officer as instructed.
3. You must not knowingly leave the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside without first getting permission from the court or the probation officer.
4. You must answer truthfully the questions asked by your probation officer.
5. You must live at a place approved by the probation officer. If you plan to change where you live or anything about your living arrangements (such as the people you live with), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
6. You must allow the probation officer to visit you at any time at your home or elsewhere, and you must permit the probation officer to take any items prohibited by the conditions of your supervision that he or she observes in plain view.
7. You must work full time (at least 30 hours per week) at a lawful type of employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you do not have full-time employment you must try to find full-time employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you plan to change where you work or anything about your work (such as your position or your job responsibilities), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer at least 10 days in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
8. You must not communicate or interact with someone you know is engaged in criminal activity. If you know someone has been convicted of a felony, you must not knowingly communicate or interact with that person without first getting the permission of the probation officer.
9. If you are arrested or questioned by a law enforcement officer, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours.
10. You must not own, possess, or have access to a firearm, ammunition, destructive device, or dangerous weapon (i.e., anything that was designed, or was modified for, the specific purpose of causing bodily injury or death to another person such as nunchakus or tasers).
11. You must not act or make any agreement with a law enforcement agency to act as a confidential human source or informant without first getting the permission of the court.
12. If the probation officer determines based on your criminal record, personal history and characteristics, and the nature and circumstances of your offense, you pose a risk to another person (including an organization), the probation officer, with prior approval of the Court, may require you to notify the person about the risk and you must comply with that instruction. The probation officer may contact the person and confirm that you have notified the person about the risk.
13. You must follow the instructions of the probation officer related to the conditions of supervision.

Cooperation shall include, but not be limited to, identifying computer systems (as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 1030(e)(1)), Internet capable devices, and/or any electronic media capable of data storage the defendant has access to, allowing an initial examination of the device(s), and installation of monitoring software/hardware on the device(s), at the defendant's expense. The monitoring software/hardware is authorized to capture and analyze all data processed by and/or contained on the device, including the geolocation of the device. The geolocation data collected by the monitoring software is to be accessed only if reasonable suspicion exists that the defendant has violated the conditions of supervision. The defendant must provide the Probation Office advance notification of planned use or purchase of any device(s). The defendant shall not use any device(s) without approval until compatibility with current monitoring software/hardware is determined and installation of monitoring software/hardware is completed. In addition to reviewing the monitored data, the Probation Office may access the device(s) if reasonable suspicion exists that the defendant has violated the conditions of supervision. The defendant may be limited in the amount of internet capable devices in their possession based upon the capabilities of the current monitoring software/hardware and the available resources of the Probation Office in order to facilitate effective management and monitoring of the device(s). The defendant shall also permit seizure and removal of computer systems, Internet-capable devices, and any electronic media capable of data storage for further analysis by law enforcement or the Probation Office based upon reasonable suspicion that a violation of a condition of supervision or unlawful conduct by the defendant has or is about to occur. The defendant shall provide each account identifier and password, and shall report the creation of new accounts, changes in identifiers and/or passwords, transfer, suspension and/or deletion of any account within 5 days of such action. Failure to provide accurate account information may be grounds for revocation of release. The defendant shall permit the U.S. Probation Office to access and search any account(s) using the defendant's credentials pursuant to this condition only when reasonable suspicion exists that the defendant has violated a condition of his supervision and that the account(s) to be searched contains evidence of this violation. Failure to submit to such a search may be grounds for revocation of release. The defendant shall allow the U.S. Probation Office to periodically access the accounts to ensure the integrity of the current usernames and passwords.
5. Failure to submit to a search may be grounds for revocation of release. The defendant shall warn any other occupants that the premises may be subject to searches pursuant to this condition. An officer may conduct a search pursuant to this condition only when reasonable suspicion exists that the defendant has violated a condition of his supervision and that the areas to be searched contain evidence of this violation. Any search must be conducted at a reasonable time and in a reasonable manner.

The defendant shall contribute to the costs of such treatment not to exceed an amount determined reasonable by the U.S. Probation Office's Sliding Scale for Substance Abuse Treatment Services and shall cooperate in securing any applicable third-party payment, such as insurance or Medicaid. The defendant shall disclose all financial information and documents to the U.S. Probation Office to assess his ability to pay. The defendant shall not consume any alcohol or other intoxicants during and after treatment, unless granted a prescription by a licensed physician and proof of same is provided to the U.S. Probation Office.
